

Frontline Network C-19 Forum Events: How To Take Part

What is the C-19 Frontline Worker Forum?

The C-19 Frontline Worker Forum is a space dedicated to sharing frontline worker information, guidance and solutions relating to the COVID-19 outbreak and its impact on frontline workers.

Anyone who is a frontline worker supporting people experiencing homelessness can utilise this vital resource. You can create a thread, or submit a comment, and start a conversation today!

How do I take part in Forum Events?

We appreciate that Frontline Workers are time limited and often have demanding workloads. That is why our Forum events are conversation led. There is no video conference facility, and you are not required to attend the whole of the hour-long conversation.

If you have registered interest via Eventbrite, all you need to do is post a comment or question, and one of our expert event facilitators will respond to your queries!

Please also remember to scroll to the bottom of the page and keep refreshing the Forum thread, so that you are up to date with the latest questions and responses.

Frontline Worker Q&A Forum Events

So far, we have facilitated four brand new "Q&A Events" covering many topics:

- 'No Recourse to Public Funds During C-19'
- 'Frontline Worker Wellbeing During C-19'
- 'Furniture Provision Across the UK During C-19'
- 'Business after C-19'

If you have any questions, or would be interested in facilitating a Q&A Forum Event, please do not hesitate to get in contact: frontline@stmartinscharity.org.uk
